SHAFTESBURY.

SHAPTESBURY is situated on the Wiltzsire border, 102 miles from Loudon, 28 north-east from Dorchester, 23 south-west from Salisbury, 15 east-north-east from Sherborne, 8 east from Sturminster, and 14 north-east from Blandford, in the diocese of Salisbury, archdeaconry of Dorset and rural deanery of Shaftesbury first portion; it is a corporate and market town, parliamentary and municipal transfer and market town, parliamentary and municipal transfer. borough, and polling place for the county, in the petty sessional division and union of its name, and hundred of Monkton-up-Wimborne, governed by a mayor, elected from the town council under the directions of the Act 5 & 6 William IV. c. 76, and returning one member to Parliament. The Salisbury and Yeovil branch of the South Western railway Salisbury and Yeovil branch of the South western land, was opened May 2, 1859, and has opened a speedy communication with Portsmouth, Southampton, London, and also the West and North of England: the station at Semley, in Wilts, is 3 miles north-east from this town, and there are emphases and cabs to meet all the trains. This is a very omnibuses and cabs to meet all the trains. This is a very ancient town, said to be the Mount Palladur Caer Septon, of the ancient Britons, and was a Roman settlement: Roman coins have been found here: it rose on the ruins of Alcester, and had Pagan temples, on the site whereof an abbey, with a numery of the Benedictine order, was built and established by Alfred, A.D. 888: his charter in English and Latin, is still extant; the site of the old abbey is well ascertained, though scarcely any remains of its buildings are to be seen: it was a place of great resort for pilgrims, and is said to have had one of the richest endowments in England. King Edward the Martyr, murdered at Corfe Castle by his mother-in-law Elfrids, A.D. 978, was buried here. King Canute died in Shaftesbury, on the 12th November, 1035, and was buried in Winchester, In 1861 a stone coffin, containing a skeleton, and having also therein an abbot's crosier and gold ring, was discovered whilst some excavations were being made on the site of the old abbey. Shaftesbury is situated on an emlnence, the approach to which is by a steep ascent. The supply of water is derived from a large reservoir underground, pumped by steam power into an upper reservoir, whence the whole town is supplied. The streets are lighted with gas. Some of the houses are very ancient, but the upper portion of the town is modern, and is said to have had one of the richest endowments in England ancient, but the upper portion of the town is modern. and contains a large number of good houses, with excellent shops, hotels, banks, and other buildings: many of the old buildings have been replaced by a better class of houses, and the streets have been much improved. St. James', or the lower portion of the town, consists chiefly of small tenements. The churchyard of the Holy Trinity contains three handsome avenues of lime trees, encompassing most of three handsome avenues of time trees, encompassing most of the walks through the burying ground and approaches to the church. A little to the south and west from The Holy Trinity church is a delightful promenade called The Park, which is sheltered from the north winds by a row of trees, partially extending over the walk: the view over the ad-jacent plains from this spot is most pleasing: this walk is one of the connections between the higher and lower portions of the town and contains the Russian trouby gun mounted of the town, and contains the Russian trophy gun mounted on its carriage.

The municipal borough comprises parts of the parishes of Holy Trinity, St. Peter and St. James: the parliamentary borough comprises in addition, the remainder of these parishes, and the parishes of Cann, Compton Abbas, Rast Stower, Margaret Marsh, Melbury Abbas, Motcombe, Stower Provost and Todbere: the tithing of Hartgrove and Fontmell Magna, and also the parish of Donhead St. Mary, 18 18711.

Here were formerly twelve churches; there are now only three—St. Peter, The Holy Trinity, and St. James.

St. Peter, the most ancient of the churches, supposed to have been built during the reign of King Stephen, is situate in the High street: it is built of stone in the Norman style: it has not been used for divine service since 1878, the interior has succumbed to the influence of time to such an extent that it is now pronounced unsafe: it has chancel, nave, south gallery and west gallery, with choir, a good organ, and square tower which contains a peal of the sweetest tonad bells in this county; they are of great age and contain a considerable amount of silver in their composition: this SHAPTESBURY is situated on the Wiltshire border, 102 venerable relic of ecclesiastical note is of interest to miles from London, 28 north-east from Dorchester, 22 antiquaries. The register dates from the fourteenth century.

The Holy Trinity church, situate in Bimport street, was rebuilt on the old site, A.D. 1842, in the Early English style: it is a handsome specimen of this style of architecture, and has a square tower of 100 feet containing 6 bells: nave and west end and splendid organ, presented at the opening of the church by the late George Thomas eq.: it has a good east window, and will seat 900 people: it has been decorated at a cost of about £300. The register dates from the year 1623.

The parishes of Holy Trinity and St. Peter are consolidated. The living is a rectory, yearly value £260, with residence, in the gift of the Earl of Shaftesbury K.G. and held by the Rev. Patrick Morrison Plinn B.A. of Trinity College, Dublin.

The church of St. James, situated in the liberty of ALCESTER, which is that part of the parish of St. James not within the municipal limits, is a handsome structure, chiefly Real Facility for green tense with Best stone dressings.

whem the municipal limits, is a nanosome structure, chiefy Early English, of greenstone, with Bath stone dressings, rebuilt in 1866-67, at a cost of £3,350, raised by subscription: it has a chancel, nave, aisles, and vestry, square tower of 65 feet, and 4 lofty pinnacles surmounted by iron crosses, a clock, and 6 bells: the chancel is paved with encausite tiles: the sisles are divided from the nave by four arches mesting on clustered along with carried constitute. arches resting on clustered piers with carved capitals: there are two entrances, one under the tower at the western end and the other by a porch on the north side: the front of the porch is a moulded arch carved with capitals on clustered Purbeck marble shafts, with richly moulded bases: at the cast end of the north aisle is an organ: the pulpit is of cat, elaborately carved: there are several stained windows: the elaborately carved: there are several stained windows: the interior is fitted with open benches and will seat 440 people. The register dates from the year 1559. The living is a rectory, yearly value £400, with residence, in the gift of the Earl of Shaftesbury K.G. and held by the Rev. George Law Harkness M.A. of St. John's College, Cambridge.

Here are chapels for Wesleyan Methodists, and a Friends' at the converse to an elaboral was completed in meeting-house. A Congregational chapel was completed in 1858 on the site of the former chapel erected in 1670: it is a handsome building of Bath stone, supported by four massive Corinthian columns of the same: it will seat from 400 to 500 persons, and the expense, £1,300, was raised by voluntary contributions.

The charities of this town are numerous and valuable. In Saisbury street are some remarkably handsome alm-houses, of very ancient foundation, for men and women, intended to hold 10 men and 16 women; both men and women have an allowance of six shillings per week. The men's almshouses have been restored, and are a good specimen of Tudor architecture. The late Marquis of Westminster added £5,000 in 1865 to these charities for the benefit of the women; and £1,000 was added by George Wilkins exc. in 1862, late of this town. There are a few other minor charities. In Salisbury street are some remarkably handsome almscharities.

An excellent Clerical Library, for the use of the neighbouring clergy, was established, with the assistance of the late Dr. Bray: this is kept in the vestry-room of the Holy Trinity church, under the care of the rector, but of late vestry here the need here. years has not been used.

A Literary Institution, with news-room and library, was established in 1852, under the patronage of the late Marquis of Westminster; and it is well supplied with newspapers and periodicals, and has a good library.

The trade of the town is derived principally from the sup-ply of the neighbouring agricultural villages, and from the sale of cheese and butter, the produce of the superior grains land in the vicinity.

The Town Hall is a handsome edifice, built at the expense of the late Marquis of Westminster, by whose liberality in Infant school was also erected in 1847.

The market day is Saturday. A handsome Markethouse, 270 feet long, was erected at the sole expense of the late Marquis of Westminster, and in which no tolerateless. are taken.

The fairs are held on the Saturday before Palm Sunday, on the last Saturday in Angust, and 23rd of November, for sheep, cattle, cheese and agricultural produce, and pleasure.

The Westminster Cottage Hospital is a handsome structure, situated in the Park road, commanding an extensive view: it was built of local stone with Bath stone dressings, at a cost of £2,000, raised by subscription, to the memory of the late Marquis of Westminster: it was opened by the Bishop of Salisbury on March 16th, 1874: over the arch of the front entrance is a fine oriel window with cusped heads, and pierced open parapet, and this is surmounted by a gable, in the face of which are the Westminster arms, carved in bold relief: the lower portion consists of convalencents'

The population of the municipal borough in 1871 was 2,472. Holy Trinity contains 974 inhabitants; St. Peter's, 1,080; rateable value of the three parishes, £9,711.

The Parliamentary borough has a population of 8,961. LITTLE DOWN is a hamlet three-quarters of a mile north, consisting of a few houses and one firm.

ALCESTER liberty has a population of 472.

SHERBORNE

AND CASTLETON.

SHERBORNE is a market and union town, polling place for in April, 1875: handsome buildings have been erected on a the county, and station on the South Western railway, on good site in the higher part of the town: head master, Mr. the borders of Somersetshire, in the hundred and petty seethe borders of Somersetshire, in the hundred and petty sessional division of its name, county court district of Yeovii, rural deanery of SI aftesbury third portion, archdeaconry of Dorset, and diocese of Salisbury, 18 miles north-north-west from Dorchester, 6 east from Yenvil, 11 north from Cerne, 22 south-west from Milborne Port, and 118 from London by rail, pleasantly situated on the southern side of a hill, on the river Yeo. The town is well paved and lighted with gas, and abundantly supplied with excellent water, and is governed by a Local Board of Health of 12 members: it is a place of the southern side of the state of the supplied with excellent water, and is governed by a Local Board of Health of 12 members: it is a place of the state of the supplied with excellent water, and the supplied with excellent water, and is governed by a Local Board of Health of 12 members: it is a place of the supplied with excellent water, and the supplied with excellent water wate by a Local Board of Health of 12 members: it is a place of great antiquity, and was for many years a cathedral city; in 705, Ina, King of the West Saxons, made it the seat of a bishop, which in 1075, was moved to Sarum.

The abbey church of 8t. Mary the Virgin is cruciform, with transepts, four side chapels, and the ladye chapel and chapel of St. Mary-le-Bow at the east end: on the removal of the see the church became conventual, and after the Dissolution of the monasteries was sold to the parish by the impropriator, Sir John Horsey kat. of Clifton Maybank, for £200; the tower, piers, and arches are Norman; Bishop Roger's chapel (now used as the vestry) is Early English; the north aisle has four Decorated windows, and the remainder of the church is Perpendicular: it has been restored, at a cost of £32,000, of which nearly £18,000 was given by the present possessor of Sherborne Castle, George Digby Wingfield Digby esq. and nearly £8,000 by the late Earl Digby, of Sher-£32,000, of which nearly £18,000 was given by the present possessor of Sherborne Castle, George Digby Wingfield Digby seq. and nearly £8,000 by the late Earl Digby, of Sherborne Castle; the rest was subscribed by the parishloners (who also raised £2,000 on the rates), and by the nobility and gentry of the county: the chief beauty of the church is its roof of stone fan-vaulting, richly gilt and decorated: the stained windows are modern and of great beauty: the Martyr window, over the communion table, and the Te Deum window in the south transept, are of exquisite beauty: the reredos, of Caen stone, represents The Ascension, with The Last Supper below: a brass plate in the presbytery marks the spot where King Alfred's two brothers, Ethelbald and Ethelbert, lie buried: a lofty monument of white marble to the memory of John, last Earl of Bristol, who died September 12th, 1698, occupies the western side of the south transept: the tower contains a peal of 8 bells in the key of B flat, of which the tenor, which was given to the church by Cardinal Wolsey, weighs 62 cwt. and 23 lbs.; it was re-cast in 1865s, there is also a sanctus bell and a fire bell: the upper two bells of the peal were added in 1868 by a general subscription in recognition of Mr. Digby's liberality: the organ was crected in 1856, at a cost of 1,100 guineas, and was repaired in 1878 at a cost of £300, relied by contributions. The register dates from the year 1538. The living is a vicarsge, yearly value £269, with residence, in the gift of the Crown, and held by the Rev. William Hector Lyon M.A. of Trinity College, Cambridge.

of Trinity College, Cambridge.

Here are Congregational, Wesleyan, Primitive Methodist,
Baptist, and the Brethren chapels.

A Cemetery of 4 acres, with two mortuary chapels, has been formed for the parish of Sherborne, westward of the town.

There is a Free Grammar school, founded by Edward VI. in 1550, and called the King's school, with four exhibitions of £40 a year to the universities, tenable for four years; one of £40 a year to the universities, tenable for four years; one is given each year: the governing body are trustees, 3 exafficio, 5 representative, and eventually 8 co-optative, though now there are 10; there are 18 masters, 7 of whom are in holy orders: the number of boys at present is 289, inclusive of the preparatory school: the head master is the Rev. E. M. Young M.A. late Fellow of Trinity College, Cambridge: the income from the endowment is about £1,200: the late Earl Digby presented to the school the domestic buildings of the monastery, which have been completely restored, providing a spacious school-room, with 40 studies, and chapel. Considerable addition have been made to the buildings, including new class-rooms, laboratory, museum. buildings, including new class-rooms, laboratory, museum, workshops and swimming bath, and last year a new schoolroom was added

Handsome National schools for 600 children were erected

The charities distributed in money and kind amount to 190 yearly.

The Yeatman Memorial Hospital was erected in 1865, in the higher part of the Abbey Precinct, at a cost of about £4,262, and a new wing added in 1869, at a cost of £500: this is a monument to the late Rev. Harry Parr Yeatman, of the Harry Parr Sections, and was raised Stock House, chairman of quarter sessions, and was raised by a general subscription in the county and in Sherborne: it is supported principally by voluntary contributions, and contains 21 beds.

Sherborne was formerly a place of note for the woollen manufacture, on the decay of which the button and lace making were carried on, which have been succeeded by sik making were carried on, which have been succeeded by silk mills; these are now in a flourishing state, furnished with an improved machinery, and employ about 600 hands. The market days are Thursday and Saturday. The fairs are held on May 8, July 18 and 26, for cattle and sheep, and a large fair, well known as Pack Monday Pair, on the first Monday after the 10th of October.

A Literary Institution was called the Monanday Literary

A Literary Institution, now called the Macready Literary Institution, was established in 1850, with library and reading-room attached. There is also a reading room in Cheap street, in connection with a Church of England Young Men's Society

Men's Society.

The Hospital of St. John the Baptist and St. John the Brangelist, re-founded by Bishop Nevil, of Sarum, in the reign of Henry VI. admits at present 27 inmates—18 males and 9 females; and in the little chapel belonging to it divine service is said by the Prior twice daily: several considerable sums for relieving the various wants of the poor, bequeathed by different individuals, are at the disposal of the maters of this hospital. There are many remains of the abbey buildings, and likewise of the old castle, at the east end of the ings, and likewise of the old castle, at the east end of the

The manor of Sherborne went with the Bishop's see till the reign of Elizabeth, by whom it was alfenated and given to Sir Walter Raleigh. Sherborne Castle, in the castle grounds, the seat of George Digby Wingfield Digby eq. D.L. was built by Raleigh when in the zenith of his prosperity, after whose attainder it passed to the ancestors of the present possessor: it is in the Elizabethan style, and in plan resembles the letter H: the apartments are decorated with some fine paintings, among which may be particawith some fine paintings, among which may be particularised a picture on canvas, representing the procession of Queen Elizabeth to St. Paul's after the destruction of the Renaish Armada, and several fine portraits of the great Sir Keneim Digby. The park extends over an area of 470 acres. The surrounding country is very fertile, and varied with woods and hills.

The area of the parish of Sherborne is 6,467 acres, 31 perches, of which half is meadow and orchard land; rateable value, £23,526; the population of Sherborne in 1871 was 6,129.

able value, £23,526; the population of Sherborne in 1871 was 6,129.

CASTLETON is a parish and suburb adjoining the eastern part of the town, in the division, hundred and union of Sherborne, rural deanery of Shaftesbury third portion, archeoaconry of Dorset, and diocese of Salisbury. All the houses in the parish, except about 12, were pulled down at the time the Salisbury and Yeovil railway was made, in order to leave room for an approach to the castle. The church of St. Mary Magdalene is a small stone structure, consisting of chancel, nave and aisles, and has a small bell turret containing 1 bell: the material for the building is supposed to have been taken from the castle rains. The register dates from the year []. The living is a vicage, yearly value £80, in the gift of George Digby Wingfield Digby eaq. and held by the Rev. William Hector Lyon M.A. of Trinity College, Cambridge, who is also the vicar of Sherborne. Beaton's charity of £2 12s. yearly is for breaf. This place takes its name from an ancient castellated residence of the blahops of Sherborne (originally built as a fortress by Bishop Roger-the-Rich, Chancellor to Heary I. and Bishop of Sarum), now in ruins: it was a well-chosen position for defence, being protected by a large mere on the north, now a meadow, and commanding the ridge of hills on the south, and the valleys in its proximity on the torth and west: it was destroyed in the Civil Wars of Charles I. after being held against the parliamentary forces for three weeks by Sir L. Dives, the governor. G. D. Wisaffed by subscription, raised by the late vicar, in 1855, at a cost of £2,500, on a site given by the late Earl Digby. Here are likewise British and Blue Coat schools, and the parish authorities have the privilege of sending three boys to Christ's Hospital, London.

A Middle Class school, called Foster's school, was opened Dighy esq. is lord of the manor, and the whole parish belongs to him. The area is 69 acres; rateable value, £367; the population in 1871 was 69.

Overcoomes is a tithing, 2 miles north-west; Pin-Ford, a tithing 2 miles north-east; Nethercomes, a quarter of a mile borth; Westbury is a quarter of a mile coakes (Parish), and Alfred quarter of a mile borth; Westbury is a quarter of a mile coakes (Vicar's).

George Esmond Phillips M.A. formerly fellow of that college. Here are Congregational and Wesleyan chapels. There is a charity called Boucher's charity (founded by Henry Boucher e-q. and considerably augmented by his son the Rev. H. Boucher), which produces an income of about £70 a year, and is cher), which produces an income of about 2.70 a year, and is devoted to the maintenance of three pensioners, resident in the parish, and members of the Church of England. A market is held every alternate Monday; and the fairs for cattle are on the 6th of May and 4th of September. In the centre of the town is an ancient sculptured cross, of excel-lent workmanship and proportion; it is, however, much dilapidated. Robert Boyle, an eminent chemist and bridge Park lies on high ground in the north-west of the town and commands extensive views of the surrounding country: there is now no residence, the old manor house, belonging to the Marquis of Anglessa, having been pulled down about 1820. Lord Richard Grosvenor M.P. is lord of the manor and principal landowner. The soil is chiefly limestone; subsoil, limestone and gravel. The crops are chiefly grass. The area is 5,681 acres; rateable value, £12,423; the population in 1871 was 2,096.

THORNHILL is a manor and tithing in the purish of Stal-bridge, from which town it is a mile and a half south, near the Lidden: this was the birthplace of Sir James Thornhill, the eminent painter, whose ancestors had resided here for centuries previously, but his father becoming involved in difficulties, the estate passed into the hands of others: after the lapse of some years the estate was again in the market, and Sir James Thornhill became the purchaser, and, pulling down the old mansion, designed and erected the present one; it is now the property of the Rev. Henry Boucher J. P. To commemorate the accession of George I. to the throne, Sir James Thornhill erected an obelisk in the park; it was partly blown down in 1836, but rebuilt by the present owner in 1874. Lord Richard Grosvenor is lord of the manor.

GOMERSHAY is a tithing, 2 miles east; WESTON, a tithing, a mile and a half south-west.

SWANAGE is a parish, seaport and rising watering place, also a market and sea-fishing town of the lise of Purbeck, in the hundred of Rowbarrow, union of Wareham and Purbeck, petty sessional division and county court district of Wareham, diocese of Salisbury, archdeaconry of Dorset and rural deanery of Dorchester third portion, situated 10 miles south-east from Wareham, 6 south-east from Corfe Castle, and 135 from London. Wareham is the nearest railway station, on the London and South Western railway The old The port of Swanage is under the port of Poole. part of the town consists of a narrow, irregularly-built street of about a mile in length; a new town has been erected on the Durleston Park Estate, the property of George Burt esq. (of the firm of John Mowlein and Co. of London), a native of Swansge, who, with John C. Robinson esq. P.R.S. of Newton Manor, is largely contributing to the improvement of the town. The estate is laid out in building sites, on which several houses have been erected; two miles of roads are made; the drainage has been designed in the of roads are made; the drainage has been designed in the most perfect manner. An artesian well insures an ample supply of pure water, being pumped up by steam power to a reservoir 200 feet above the sea, and supplying the whole property; this water has been analysed by Dr. Letheby and found to be very pure, like the water at Burtonon-Trent. At the foot of the hill, adjoining the estate, is the Royal Victoria Hotel, visited by Her Majesty, then H.R.H. Princese Victoria, in 1835; it has also been visited by the Prince of Wales: it is a good family hotel, with every comfort and convenience. The bathing is good; the sands being firm, clean, and with a uniform slope at all states of the being firm, clean, and with a uniform slope at all states of the tide. To those fond of yachting and fishing, Swanage offers many attractions; good seaworthy boats and tackle can always be had. There is a pier, at which steamers plying between Poole, Bournemouth and Swanage land their passes. sengers. The rides and drives in the vicinity are beautiful.
Swanage Bay is a good rowistead in all winds except easterly, Swaining Day is a good to wissels of from 300 to 400 tons, within the heads of Peverel and Handfast points; a breakwater is much needed, which would greatly add to the safety of the bay as a roadstead; the long wooden pier is of great service for shipping the native products, large quantities of stone being sent from here annually. Purbeck stone, the staple of this neighbourhood, has for ages been an important article of export. Lobsters and crabs and whiting are taken here. The properties of a spring of water here are nearly as good as those of Burton-on-Trent, as analysed by Drs. Letheby and Graham, and are exclusively used by Mesers. Panton at their brewery, the produce of which has long been characteristically known as "Swanage Pale Ale." In 1879 a hydropathic establishment and sanatorium was opened; it is situated on a pleasant and sheltered eminence in the Durleston Park, and is conducted by Dr. Pearce, formerly of London and Northampton. The church of St Mary was, with the exception of the tower, entirely rebuilt in the years 1859 to 1860 by voluntary subscription: it is a cruciform structure, in the Early English style: it has chancel, nave and aisles: the tower is very ancient, supposed of Saxon origin, the meaning really size in four stances to believe the 1850 for intermediate. its massive walls rise in four stages to a height of 80 feet; it contains 4 bells: there are several good stained windows, and tablets and brasses. The ground now used as the cemetery is a little to the north of the church, detached from the building. The register dates from the year 1500. The living is a rectory, yearly value £550, in the gift of trustess of late J. H. Calcraft esq. and held by the Rev. Robert Duncan Travers M.A. of Calus College, Cambridge. The tithes were commuted in 1839, and the aggregate amount is £4099s. There is a chapel of ease at Herston, named St. Mark's, and a school in connection with it. There are Congregational, Primitive Methodists and Wesleyan chapels; also a mission hall, erected in 1872 by members of different denominations; president of the mission, Rev. T. Seavill: the basement of this building is fitted up as a workmen's the basement of this building is fitted up as a workmen's hall and reading room. There are three charities; vizs Toop's, a gilt of £38, date unknown, which is invested in £3 per cent. consols, the dividends accruing from same are applied now for the purchase of food, clothing or fuel for the deserving poor who are in receipt of poor-law relief, a preference given to agod widows; it may also be given to deserving represent of relief. Dudley's given to deserving persons not in receipt of relief; Dudley's charity: this was a gift of £45 by will from Miss Dudley, date unknown; this is also invested in £3 per cent. Consols, and the dividends accruing from same are applied in the distribution of small doles of money and clothing to the deserving poor at Christmas yearly; Isaac Fryer's charity: this was formerly an annuity of £5 for the poor of Kingston, Swanger and West Industry to the according to Swanage and West Lulworth; the executors of Isaac Fryer's will were directed to purchase out of the personal estate of the testator a sum of £500 consols for the purpose of securing these annuities. The Mowlem Institute, situate on the beach, was erected in 1863, at a cost of £1,100, which was entirely defrayed by the late John Mow-lem esq. J.P. of this town, and also endowed with £200, in-vested in £3 per cent. Consols, for repairs and insurance: the building is a handsome stone structure, and was "established for the improvement of its members in the arts connected with their callings, and in the principles of science and useful knowledge generally:" it has a well-supplied library, a handsome hall for lectures, attached to which is the reading room, well supplied with the London and local newspapers: the current expenses are met by annual payments of the subscribers, and a small nominal charge to casual visitors, which entitles them to full benefits of the institute. A Freemasons' lodge meets here every month, of which Mr. Mowlem was the first master. A well-proor which Mr. Mowing was the first master. A well-proportioned pillar in proximity to the Institute commemorates the naval victory King Alfred gained over the Danes in the Bay of Swanage, in 877. An obelisk of Swanage stone at the entrance of the town is to the memory of "Albert the Good." A handsome clock tower stands in the grounds of Grove House, and is a prominent object from the bay: it was originally erected on the Surrey side of London Bridge to the memory of the Duke of Wellington: the arrangements for the railway from Charing Cross to London Bridge necessitated its removal, when it was presented by the firm of Mowlem and Co. to Mr. Docwra, who re-erected it in its present position. There is a trade in straw plait, giving employment to a number of women and children: it is bought up and made into baskets, mats and other fancy articles, by Mr. Colleau, of Sea View House. The market is held on Fridays. The Board of Health has been in existheld on Fridays. The Board of Health has been in existence since August, 1873, and consists of six members, two of whom are elected annually. On Peverel Point is the coast-guard station, with a battery commanding the bay. Jutting out from this point into the sea is a dangerous ledge of rocks: a life-boat has been established here, and a lighthouse is also in course of erection at Anvil Point, near Durleston Head, by the Trinity Board. It will be about midway between the Portland and Needle lights, and will supply a great want in assisting vessels going in and out the supply a great want in assisting vessels going in and out the Needles. Life-boats are also stationed respectively at Poole, Chapman's Pool, and Kimeridge. The chief landewners are the Earl of Eldon, who is lord of the manor, Mrs. Serrell, George Burt esq. J.P. and J. C. Robinson esq. The area is 3,163 acres, of which 240 are water and foreshore; rateable value, £6,435; and the population in 1871 was 2,151.

Of the outlying farm houses the most ancient are Whitecliff, supposed to have been formerly a residence of King John, 11 miles north, and Godlingston, formerly a mon-astery, 11 miles north-west; parts of the remains are of great antiquity. The farm buildings of Godlingston are very complete. HERTSON is a hamlet, half a mile west; Till Whim, a remarkable ancient quarry in the face of the cliff, is distant 2 miles south.

WAREHAM.

WAREHAM is a parliamentary borough, corperate town, polling place for the county, head of a union and county court district, and station on the London & South Western railway, in the bundred of Winfrith, Whitchurch rural deanery second portion, Dorset archdeaconry and Salisbury diocese, 125 miles from London, 17 south-east from Dorchester, 4 north-west from Corfe Castle, 8 south-west from Poole, and 6 south from Bere Regis: it is situated between the rivers Piddle and Frome, occupying a rising ground, near their confluence with Poole Harbour, and consists of four spacious and open streets, intersecting each other at right angles, its area being nearly enclosed by high artificial ramparts of earth, and covering about 100 acres; these ram-parts of remote antiquity are supposed to be of British origin, and now form a healthful recreation ground for the inhabitants. Wareham was a Roman settlement, as was Stoborough, and figures largely in history from the time of Canute to that of the Commonwealth. The space between the embankments and the present inhabited part is converted into gardens, and let by the lord of the manor at moderate rents. The bridge crossing the Frome from South street was rebuilt about the year 1777; it connects the county with the Isle of Purbeck. There was formerly a salmon fishery in this river, but from the system of taking the fish out of season, on their ascending the river to spawn, it has been nearly destroyed: the tides flow as high as Holme Bridge, 3 miles above the town. In 1762 the high as Holme Sridge, S miles above the town. In 1/02 the town, with the exception of three churches now standing, was entirely consumed by fire. The present government of the town is vested in a mayor, recorder, and six capital burgesses; it is not under the Municipal Corporations Act, but governed under an old charter granted by Queen Anne. The courts held here are the annual sessions before the mayor and recorder. There is an ancient court of record here, which has fallen into disuse, and is superseded practically by the county court.

The church of St. Mary is very secient: a chapel in the south aisle is said to be the burial place of the Anglo-Saxon kings, and in it reposed for three years the remains of Edward the Martyr, who was murdered at Corfe Castle by Edward the Martyr, who was murdered at Corie Castie by Ellfrida; his bones were then removed, with much pomp and ceremony, by St. Dunstan and a numerous train of monks, to Shaftesbury: the nave of the church was rebuilt in 1841-42, and re-opened for public worship, September 29th, 1842: it is now capable of seating 1,000 persons, including the Sunday scholars: the chancel contains a beautiful window. of the date of Henry VII., and the tower is a ful window, of the date of Henry VII., and the tower is a very handsome Gothic structure: near the west entrance is very handsome Gothic structure: near the west entrance is a font of the eleventh century; it is of lead, hexagonal in form, mounted on a solid base of Purbeck marble, and on the sides are carved figures, representing the Twelve Apostles in high relief: in digging for the new foundation of the nave of the above church, a tine sarcophagus, of Purbeck marble, was discovered, supposed to have been the receptacle for the body of Edward the Martyr; a slight groove surrounding the cist would imply that a metallic lid covered the remains on their being decosited, and which was covered the remains on their being deposited, and which was doubtless removed by Dunstan : many singular inscriptions on old stones, built in with the former structure, were also discovered; these, it is deeply regretted, were wanted destroyed or built into the walls of the nave: from a small portion of the old structure still remaining, and which has been converted into a vestry-room, it would appear as if the old building was highly ornamented, and leads the archaelogist to regret that so nondescript an object as the new are should have superseded the more artistic erection of the olden time: there is a monument to the Rev. John Hutchins, author of the "History of Dorset," who was formerly rector here, and is buried in the chapel formerly used for the burial of the Anglo-Saxon kings. The priory near this church is still standing; it was originally founded by St. Aldhelm, who died 709 A.D.; in the present year (1880) a double piscina, octagonal in form and of Purbet marble, was discovered in the wall on the south side of the chancel. The register dates from the year 1762. The ling consists of the rectory of Holy Trinity, with that of St. Martin and the rectory of St. Mary annexed, and is of the yearly value of £500, in the gift of the trustees of the late young the standard tesq. and held by the Rev. Henry Pelham Stokes M.A. of Queen's College, Oxford.

This town contains three parishes:—Holy Trinity parish (containing Stoborough Liberty, Middlebeer, Ridge and Redcliff); Lady St. Mary within and without. The churches of Holy Trinity and St. Martin's within and without. logist to regret that so nondescript an object as the new mare Hedeliff); Lady St. Mary within and without; St. Martin's within and without. The charches of Holy Trinity and St. Martin are both standing, but neither of them are used for public worship; in the former the Sunday and daily schools are held; the latter, now covered with ivy and forming a very picture sque object in North street, is only used for the burials of the members of one or two families. There are some traces of two other parochial churches having existed in former times, called St. Michael and St. Peter, but the parishes have been consolidated with the others, and the parishes have been consolidated with the others, and the only evidence of their existence is the name in the king's Books, which subjects the rector to a small charge for firstfruits, tenths and land-tax.

There are two chapels, viz. Congregational and Wesleys.
The town has been placed under a local Board of Health of nine members; there is also a School Board of five members.

The Town Hall and Corn Exchange, situated in the Market place, is a Gothic building of red brick, with store dressings, with tower and cleck; it is used not only for the corporation, but for public meetings of the town and neighbourhood, and the sittings of the petty sessions of the borough bourhood, and the sittings of the petty sensions of the borough and county justices; it also contains a public reading room. This town has long been noted for its extensive traffic in potters', fire, pipe, tile and other kinds of clay, 64,000 tons of which were last year sent to Staffreshire, America, Stockholm, Belgium, France and ether parts; the railway, laid down from the pits by Mr. W. J. Pike, by a gradual incline to the mouth of the river frost conveys the clay at a very trifling cost; there is also as extensive brewery belonging to Messrs. Panton size of Swanage; the large brick and clay works at Bandford are now in full work under a limited company, who have use introduced the manufacture of Portland cessent, artificial stone etc. The market day is Tuesday. There are two fairs, on the 17th April and 11th September, both for cattle, and are generally well attended; there are also five cattle markets, commencing about 14th February, and continuing every fortnight.

There is an almshouse for six men and five women, endowed by John Streche esq. and rebuilt in 1741: each endowed by John Streche esq. and rebuilt in 1741: each of the eleven almspeople receive seven shiftings weekly, besides a new gown or cleak, beef and coals, at Christmas: this income is continually augmented from the increasing value of the estate. There are also charitable bequests amounting to £75 yearly, distributed to the poor at certain periods of the year.

Wareham is the proper railway station for people visiting Confe Castle Swanger or Lulworth and every facility for Corfe Castle, Swanage, or Lulworth, and every facility for conveyance thereto will be obtained at the Red Lion Hotel in this town, which possesses a large posting establishment, and ample accommodation for visitors.

WEYMOUTH and MELCOMBE REGIS.

WEYMOUTH and MELCOMBE REGIS are parishes which form a sesport, parliamentary and municipal borough, union and market town, the whole being usually known as Weymouth, and head of a county court district and bathing place, possessing independent jurisdiction, in the Dorchester petty sessional division, hundred of Cultiford Tree, diocese of Salishury archidescopy of Dorshester and rural degrees of Dorshester in the church of St. Mary, Melcombe Regis, rebuilt in 1817, head of the parishes of the parishes of Wyke Regis and parts of the parishes of Wyke Regis and pa bury, archdeaconry of Dorset and rural deanery of Dorchester bury, archiesconry of borset and rural desirery of bordessers second portion, 8 miles from Dorchester, 20 south-east from Bridport, 24 south-west from Blandford, 28 west-by-south from Poole and 128 by road and 145½ by rail from London, with a station on the London and South Western railway, and the Wilts and Somerset branch of the Great Western railway: the station is a commodious building at the north end of the town.

Weymouth takes its name from the river Wey, over which there is a bridge connecting Weymouth with Melcombe Regis. Weymouth is the more ancient borough of the two, Regis. Weymouth is the more ancient borough of the two, although Melcombe Regis appears to have enjoyed more privileges. Between these towns arose a great controversy; both enjoying like privileges, and both challenging the particular immunities of the haven; each of them having overthrown the other, they continually commenced new suits; at last, having wearied the Lords of the Council with their importunities, by the advice of William Cecil, the Lord Treasurer of England, they were, by an Act of Parliament, passed the 13th year of the reign of Elizabeth, amalgamated. Melcombe Regis is situated on the northern side of the harbour, and takes its name from an old mill which formerly existed here: the second part. Regis, from its being part of existed here: the second part, Regis, from its being part of a royal domain. In the Norman Survey no mention is made of this place, it being then included in the parish of Radi-pole. This town is situated on the English Channel, at the western side of a beautiful and expansive bay, which forms a semicircle, making a sweep of upwards of 2 miles, sheltered by a range of hills to the north and the Isle of Portland to the south.

The site of the town is supposed to have been known to the Romans: its existence in the time of the Saxons is undoubted; and in the time of Edward III. it became a place of consequence: during the civil wars it fell alternately into or consequence: during the civil wars it is attenue; into the hands of the King and the Parliament; subsequently to this period it sank gradually into decay and was merely an inconsiderable fishing town, till it began to acquire celebrity as a fashionable batbing-place: its beautiful situation and convenience for sea-bathing having attracted the attention of a gentleman from Bath, he recommended it to his friends and acquaintances. The Duke of Gloucester afterwards visited it, and in 1789 George III. and his family made it their summer residence, and having experienced great benefit from its air and sea-bathing, frequently honoured it with their presence: from these circumstances the reputation of the town was completely restored, and in a few years it was rebuilt and enlarged to meet the demands of its distinguished visitors. The Esplanade is a handsome terrace, fronting the sea, about a mile in length and defended from the sea by a stone barrier: from this the descent to the sands is easy, and the declivity is so gradual that at 400 feet from the shore the water is not more than knee-deep: benches and seats are placed at convenient distances for the accommodation of invalids, who may sit and enjoy the sea-breeze, with a view of the extensive headlands to the east and the English Channel and the Bill of Portland to the south. The town is well-built, paved and lighted with gas, and well supplied with water, and has a police force, consisting of a superintendent, two sergeants and thirteen men. The principal houses front the sea; the streets in the town are very narrow and of great antiquity.

By the Municipal Reform Act the borough is divided into two wards, governed by six aldermen and eighteen councillors, from whom the mayor is chosen: it formerly returned four members o Parliament, but now only returns

Holy Trinity is an ecclesiastical parish, formed in 1836 from the parishes of Weymouth and Wyke Regis; the church is a plain building without tower, consisting of chancel, nave, north aisle and two galleries: in the chance is a beautiful painting, by Vandyke, of The Crucifixim: it has an organ and full choir, and was opened for divine service in 1836, having been erected at the sole charge of the vice in 1836, having been erected at the sole charge of the late Rev. George Chamberlaine, of Wyke Regis. The register dates from the year 1836. The living is a vicarage, in the gift of the Bishop of Salisbury and held by the Rev. John Dupré Addison M.A. of Exeter College, Oxford. The area is 205 acres; the population in 1871 was 5,007.

St. John's is an ecclesiastical parish, formed in 1856 from the parishes of Melcombe Regis and Radipole; the church is Gothic, consisting of chancel, nave, alsles and transept, with a spire: it has a fine organ and several stained windows and will seat 950, and was opened for divine service in Ottober, 1854. The register dates from the year 1854. The living is a vicarage, yearly value £300, in the gift of the rector of Melcombe Regis and held by the Rev. John Stephenson M.A. of Caius College, Cambridge. The area is 170 acres; the population in 1871 was 1,972.

There is a handsome Congregational chapel in Glouceter street, designed by R. C. Bennett esq. The Baptist chape is in Bank buildings; the Wesleyan chapel is a commodical structure in Malden street; there is a small Wesleyan chapel in the Park; the Hope Congregational chapel, in Trinit; street; the Primitive Methodists' in St. Leonards road; the Catholic chapel in Dorchester road.

A Cometery was formed in 1856, about a mile west-by-north-west from the town, to facilitate the approach to which a bridge was constructed across the backwater: it comprises about four acres, and contains two mortuary chapels.

A Port Sanitary Authority has been established, and a hospital is now (1880) in course of erection at Wyke Regs, at a cost of £5,000.

Many legacies have been left for the purposes of educa-tion; there are several societies for clothing the poor; also charitable institutions and benevolent societies.

The Guildhall, in St. Edmund street, is a handsome building of Portland stone with a fine façade and lone pillars, containing a public hall, magistrates' room, policestation and lock-up.

The general Market House is in St. Mary street; it is a commodious building, with a very handsome front; attack is a small fish market; the market is held on Tuesday at Friday, and is well supplied with meat and vegetables. The prosperity of the place depends mainly on its visitors;

WIMBORNE (or WIMBORNE MINETER) is a market and union town, head of a county court district, polling place for the county, station on the South Western and Somerset and Dorset railways, and parish, in the petty seasional division of Wimborne, hundred of Badbury, diocese of Salisbury, archdeaconry of Dorset and rural deanery of Dimpagne second portion & miles from Bournemouth 1141 Pimperne second portion, 8 miles from Bournemouth, 1141 from London, 254 east-by-north from Dorchester, 10 southeast from Blandford and 6 north from Poole, situated on word 'bourne' (a brook), and its minster, is derived its name: it was a Roman station, named Vindogladia. The town is governed by a constable and bailiff, with tithing-men for the several tithings within the parish, who are appointed at the manorial court, held annually at Michaelmas. Wimborne is a town of great antiquity, celebrated for its venerable collegiate church: this ancient structure, which is dedicated to St. Cuthbergs, is cruciform, with two square towers-one of them rising from the centre of the church, and the other from the west end: a lofty spire, which formerly sur-mounted the former, is said to have fallen in the year 1600: the whole edifice is divided in the manner of a cathedral, and consists of a chancel, choir, nave, and aisles, a transept, and three porches: the chancel and choir were restored in 1855, and the nave in 1857: full cathedral service is performed on Sundays and on Wednesday evenings, and prayers are read daily: there is a splendid organ, which was entirely rebuilt in 1867, under the direction of Mr. Whitehead Smith, the organist: it contains 2,318 pipes, some of which are over 200 years old: under the church is a fine vaulted crypt: the two ends of the church were added about the middle of the fourteenth century; and it is believed that some parts of the original, then standing, had been erected from five to six hundred years before that period: in this church have been interred come rowell and numerous polls personers. interred some royal and numerous noble personages, most of whom were anciently commemorated by suitable monuments: several of high antiquity are still preserved, particularly a brass half-length incised figure of the fourteenth century, to King Bthelred II. the brother of Alfred the Great, eb. 1016, and a Purbeck marble altar-tomb, with recumbent effigies of John Beaufort, Duke of Somerset, ob. 1444, and Margaret Beauchamp, his wife: prior to the Reformation this church had no fewer than ten altars for the celebration of mass, all nau no rewer than ten aitars for the celebration of mass, all composed of costly materials. A nunnery was built by Cuthberga, daughter of Kenred, King of Wessex, in 715. The register dates from the year 1560. The living was a peculiar, and in the gift of the governors of the Grammur school, re-established here by Queen Elliabeth, by a charter of whom the tithes of the parish are vested in such governors: up to 1848 these were the nominees of the landowsers, and the tithes were kent down at £600: they have here at nors: up to 1848 these were the nominees of the landowners, and the tithes were kept down at £600; they have been at the instance of the Commissioners of Charities, raised to £2,500, which is expended at present for the support of three clergymen and six lay clerks or singing men, trachoristers, and an organist; the three incumbents are the Rev. Henry Good Ll.B. of Trinity Hall, Cambridge, who has retired on a pension; the Rev. Prebendary Charles own appointment, including classical, mathematical, french, Onslow M.A. of Trinity College, Cambridge, who has removed to the chapelry of Holt, where a parsonage house has been erected, and the Rev. Edward Fiennes Trotman moved to the chapetry of Holt, where a parsonage house has been erected, and the Rev. Edward Fiennes Trotman B.C.L. late fellow of New College, Oxford, who has sole charge of the parish and minster. A vicarage house is being erected on an excellent site near the minster, and will be completed at Midsummer 1880. The church of St. John the Evangelist was built and endowed 17th August, 1876, by the Rev. Carr J. Glyn, of Whitehampton, with the object of supplying the rapidly increasing requirements of the neighbourhood. of the station, and the new district of Rowlands: bourhood, of the station, and the new district of Rowlands: the structure has been designed and carried out in the simplest style of Early English architecture, and with the advantage of an excellent situation, is a handsome, without being a striking edifice: the outside walling is of red Fareham stone, and the inside walls are stuccoed, the interior stone work being dressed with Bath stone: the church consists of an apse chancel, with north and south transept: the roof is open and filled in with plaster between the rafters, which are varnished at the east end: a hand-ome double bell-cot crowns the roof at the west end: the floors are laid with ornamental tiles, and the seats, which are of varnished pitch pine, are all open: the pulpit, reading deak, and communion table are of oak, and there is a small vestry in the north transept. The cost of the church and fittings, which are complete, amounted to £2,500. The architect was Mr. Walter Fletcher, of Wimborne, and Mr. A. Green, of Blandford, was the builder; there are sittings for 360 persons, 60 of which are free. The living is a perpetual curacy, yearly value £32—, in the gfit of trustees, and held by the Rev. John Bodden Watson, of St. Aidans. The Free Grammar School was originally founded by transept: the roof is open and filled in with plaster between The Free Grammar School was originally founded by Margaret, Countess of Richmond, and was re-established by Queen Elizabeth: it is now administered under the provisions of a scheme dated 1877, under the Charity Commissioners: by it a new governing body was constituted: the church governors appoint six of their number on the board: the magistrates, guardians and county members each nominate two: the Bishop of the diocese one, to make up a board of 13: the school house, which was built in 1851 in the Elisabethan style, is the residence of the head-master, who has the privilege of taking boarders at £50 a year: the bouse will hold 50: the present head-master is E. Fynes-Clinton eq. who is assisted by a competent staff of masters of his own appointment, including classical, mathematical, french, german, music and drawing masters: the course of education pursued in the school is designed to prepare pupils for the Universities, and for other pursuits: the school is open to all England. Besides the Free Grammar school, there is a very spacious school on the National system, built in 1843. Here are Wesleyan and Congregational chapels. There is immediately opposite St. John's church a coffee and temperance boarding house, with mission room. The school immediately opposite St. John's church a coffee and temperance boarding house, with mission room. The school adjoining the church is a red brick building with residence for master. Here are St. Margaret's Hospital (or almshouses), Courtenay's Hospital, and a school and almshouse at Pamphill, in this parish; charities to the amount of £145 yearly are distributed. The market day is Friday; and the fairs are the Friday before Good Friday, and the 14th of September, for horses, cattle and cheese, and there is also a large monthly sale of cattle and horses by public anction. The principal inns are the Crown hotel, King's Head inn and The Three Lions inn posting houses. Kingston Lacy, the seat of Walter Ralph Bankes esq. D.L. is a handsome stone mansion standing in a park of 420 acres. The other principal seats in the vicinity are—Deans Court; High Hall, Miss Linthorne; Stone Cottage, Rev. G. V. Garland J.P.; and Park Homer, Col. Leopold Grimstone Paget J.P. Strohn Alexander Hanham bart, and Walter Ralph Bankes esq. are the lords of the manors within the parish. The John Alexander Hanham bart, and water rangularization esq. are the lords of the manors within the parish. The principal landowners are Walter Ralph Bankes, Sir John Hanham bart, and Miss Linthorne, of High Hall. The soil is light loam; subsoil, gravel. Wimborne parish constitutions soil is light loam; subsoil, gravel. Wimborne parish contains 11,966 acres; rateable value, £22,221; the population in 1871 was, parish, 5,019; town 426.

Actuary—T. B. YOUNG, B.A.

THE LIFE FUNDS are invested in the names of Special Trustees as Security for Claims on this Branch, and Life Policy holders possess, in addition, the Security of the Paid-up Capital, $250,000, and the fully subscribed and uncalled Capital of $3,250,000, and the other Funds of the Company, the large extent of which will be seen on reference to the Company's printed Balance Sheet.

THE ASSURED are wholly free from liability in respect of the engagements of the Company.

THE RYBESES OF MANAGEMENT, exclusive of commission, are limited by Deed of Settlement to a small percentage on the Premium Premium.

FIXED MINIBUM SURRENDES VALUES are guaranteed on ordinary whole Life Policies after three years' duration.

CLAIMS are paid one month after proof of death.

NEW LIBERAL COMPITIONS have been introduced into the Company's Policies (issued after October, 1879), by which the limits of free residence and travel have been considerably extended; and such Policies, it effected for the whole term of Life, are, after five years' duration, and under certain conditions, rendered exempt from extra Premiums for residence and travel abroad. Full particulars are contained in the Book Prospectus, a copy of which will be forwarded on application.

The ASSOCIATION employs NO AGENTS, and pays NO COMMISSION in any shape for the introduction of Policies.

Its expenses are small, being about 3 per cent. of its annual income from premiums and interest

An investigation of its affairs is made every year, and the surplus is applied solely to the reduction of the Premiums, such reduction commencing with the eighth payment.

During the last 30 years the reduction has increased, on an average, at the rate of about One per cent. per annum, and as the mortality among its Members continues to be much within the estimate, and the funds of the Society are invested at a higher rate of interest than is assumed in the valuations, it is expected that the Premiums may be still further reduced.

PREMIUMS commenced before January 1856 (1st series), this year are reduced 98 per cent. July 1865 (2nd series), 88 49 July 1872 (3rd series), 73

THE BUSINESS OF THE COMPANY

Has increased steadily year by year, until it has attained its present large amount, and during the last 20 years its progress has been very rapid.

The Annual Revenue exceeds EIGHT HUNDRED THOUSAND POUNDS.

The Accumulated and Invested Fund is upwards of FIVE MILLIONS AND A QUARTER STERLING.

The Directors invite particular attention to the new terms and conditions of the Free Assurance Scheme, under which persons assured are allowed to reside in any part of the world free of Extra Premium.

TREE ASSURANCE.—Persons not less than 25 years of age, who, when proposing for Assurance, satisfy the Directors that they have no intention or prospect of proceeding abroad, from their occupation and other circumstances, are charged the ordinary Home Premium, and may afterwards proceed to and reside in any part of the world without extra premium.

Existing Policy Holders shall have the benefit of the new terms and conditions, on application to that effect, provided the Directors are satisfied that such new benefit ought to be conferred.

POLICIES OF FIVE YEARS' DURATION, effected for the whole term of Life, at a uniform rate of premium, may, with certain exceptions, be renewed within thirteen months of date of lapsing on payment of a Fine; and in the event of death, the claims will be paid subject to deduction of Premiums unpaid and Fines.

POLICIES OF LESS THAN FIVE YEARS' DURATION may be renewed within Thirteen Months on very favourable terms.

The PROFITS of the Company have been divided on nine occasions:—1835-40-45, 1850-55, 1860-65, 1879 and 1875.

The next DIVISION OF PROFITS for 5 years, ending 15th November, 1880, will be declared in 1881.

Surrender Value granted after one annual payment on With Profit Policies, or three annual payments on those without Profit, or Loans granted on such Policies within their surrender value.

Every information can be obtained at any of the Offices or Agencies of the Company.

Entire Security is given to the Assured by a Guaranteed Capital of £116,000, and a Fund amounting to over £400,000 invested in the Public Stocks, and on Mortgages, &c., being the accumulated Premiums reseived on Assurances.

The rates of Premium are moderate and the conditions of Assurance liberal.

Bighty per Cent. of the net profits are divided every five years among the holders of Policies under the participating class of Assurers.

The Ninth Division of Profit will be made in February, 1882, and Assurances effected in the participating class prior to 1st January, 1881, will share therein for two years.

The profits may either be received in Cash, or a Bonus added to the Policy, or a reduction made in all future Annual Premiums.

At the eighth Division of Profit, declared 20th February, 1877, on the business of the Association for the Five-Years ending 31st December, 1876, Reversionary Additions were made to the sums assured of 48 per centand under (according to the age of the life assured) on the premiums received upon Policies since the Division of 1872.

Annual Premiums may be paid by Half-Yearly or Quarterly instalments.

Endowment Assurances are granted by this Association, by which a person, by the payment of a moderate Annual premium, can secure a sum to be paid to himself, should he attain a specified age, or the amount will be paid to his representatives, should he die before that time.

The Stamp Duty on Assurance Policies is paid by the Office.

Immediate, Deferred, and Survivorship Annuities granted upon favourable terms.

EDWARD CUTBUSH, Actuary.

PERFECT DAYLIGHT! WHY BURN GAS?

CHAPPUIS' PATENT REFLECTORS

OFFICE LIGHTED WITH GAS IN DAY-TIME.

CHAPPUIS' PATENTS FOR

Adopted by Her Majesty's Commissioners of Works, the Government Offices, the Houses of Parliament, The Admiralty, War Office, Royal Engineers, Board of Works, all leading Architects, Contractors, Bankers, Manufacturers, and also on board Ships and in Hotels, Private Houses, &c.

CHAPPUIS' PATENT REFLECTORS will be found eminently useful for all buildings where the daylight is obstructed and impeded owing to the bad construction of premises, the small dimensions of windows, the proximity of opposite walls, or other local causes. They can be easily adapted where there is either a grating, area, window, or skylight, and will be found to effect a considerable saving in the cost of gas, and conduce to general health and comfort.

ALL THE REFLECTING SURFACES are fitted in strongly made wooden frames, so constructed as to resist the action of the weather; all that is required to ensure the durability of the Reflector being that the puttying should be seen to, and the frame repainted once a year REFLECTORS required for the outside of shop fronts are made ornamental, of mahogany, ebony, or with glass backs, gold lettering, at thus answering the twofold purpose of lighting and advertising. For these special estimates will be supplied.

The different descriptions of Reflectors are:

 J. C. SPARROW, Esq., B.A. (late Exhibitioner of Wadham College, Oxford).

Brofessors:

FRENCH AND GERMAN:—M. LE PAGE, B.A. (University of Paris).

DRAWING AND PAINTING:—MR. JOHN CHARLES SWALLOW (Head Master of the School of Art, Bath; late one of Her Majesty's Examiners in Art; and Gold Medalist of South Kensington).

MUSIC:—MR. LEAMAN (Organist of the Parish Church, Warminster).

DABCING:—MR. J. T. CALKIN, M.C., Salisbury.

DBILL:—SBRGEANT BARTER (late of the Grenadier Guards).

THE SCHOOL CURRICULUM INCLUDES INSTRUCTION IN-

I.—The Principles of the Christian Religion according to the doctrine and formularies of the Church of England.

II.—Languages:—1, Latin; 2, Greek; 3, French; 4, German; 5, English—its construction and literature.

III .- Mathematics : Elementary and Advanced.

IV.—Geography, History, Vocal and Instrumental Music, Theory of Music, Drawing, Dancing, Chemistry, Drill.

All the above subjects (except Chemistry, instruction in which is given if required) are regularly taught in the achool; Greek, however, is omitted, except in the case of Pupils whose future career will require a knowledge of this language.

Grammatical French is taught by each master in his own class; French reading, conversation &c., being under the control of the Professor of French. The School course prepares for any of the Universities, larger Public Schools, Civil and Military Services, Local Examinations, the Professions and Mercantile pursuits. The whole of the Form read for the Junior Oxford Local Examination, the whole of the Fifth Form for the Senior, and the Sixth for Scholarships, Moolwich, Sandhurst, Hoyal Indian Civil Engineering College (Cooper's Hill), &c. See List of Distinctions, which will be forwarded on application to the Head Master.

FEES. From 8 to 12 years old .. 12 guineas) per term " 12 to 14 14 three term .. •• •• .. in the year. Over 14 16 Special Terms for Anglo-Indians, and in other cases where entire charge, inclusive of holidays, is taken of Fupile. From 8 to 12 years old .. . 56 guineas per annum " 12 to 14 64 .. •• .. •• .. Over 14 72 N.B.—No extra charge is made for French, Theory of Music, Singing, or Drill.

These charges include the fees for School Stationery, and Board and Washing; there being no other necessary outlay whatever, excellent and Half-a-crosen each per term for (A) Breakage; (B) Darning and Buttons. The extra and optional subjects assistance, Harmonium, Violin, Chemistry, German, each 2 guiness; Drawing and Dancing, each 1 guines per term.

The low Fees are no criterion of the kind of education and accommodation afforded by this School, as the Foundation is now unencumbered, thereby allowing the charges to be fixed at least 25 per cent. lower than would be possible, in a School of this class, were there Foundation Scholars and no free premises and endowment.

Diet and Domestic Arrangements.—A liberal table is kept, and milk, butter and potatoes, and other dairy and agricultural products, are supplied direct from the School Farm. The Head Master and his family breakfast and dine with the Pupils. The School Mesis are breakfast, dinner, tea, and supper. Each Pupil has a separate bed.

The domestic arrangements are under the personal superintendance of Mrs. ALCOCK, assisted by a matron.

Religious, Moral and Physical Education.—The religious, moral and physical education of the Pupils is considered of the first importance, and one master at least, joins in and mixes with the Pupils during all School Games, both out-door and indoor. No Pupil is allowed to leave the School premises without special permission from the Head Master.

Means afforded for Physical Education.—The grounds and premises are extensive, including a large playground (part of which is covered), with fives court, giant stride, swings, horizontal and parallel bars, &c.; lofty and commodious school-recess, class recently added, dining hall, dormitories, &c. There is a bath room provided with hot and cold water, which is used weakly by each Pupil. Cricket is played in a large field adjoining the School. Within a few minutes walk are the Warminster Downs, to which the Pupils have free access, for football, hookey, and other games.

Healthiness of Warminster .- The air of Warminster is pure and bracing, and the rate of mortality far below the average.

"The sanitary condition of this town, the prettiest and cleanest in Witahire, is so remarkably good, that the Registras-General, puzzled and perplexed because Warminster persists in falsifying his averages, writes down again and again to inquire the reason why the people of Warminster will not die in the proper and customary proportion, in which, according to his calculations, they ought to die."—Devices Gazette, March 12th, 1874.

Ratiway Accommodation.—The Grammar School is within ten minutes' walk of the Railway Station.

Warminsten Collegiate School

5 & 6, BOREHAM TERRACE.

Principal:

MR. J. N. BROUGHTON,

UNDERGRADUATE IN HONORS OF LONDON UNIVERSITY.

For Seven Years Mathematical Master, Wesley College, Sheffield; and for several Years Mathematical and Second Master at the Grammar School, Warminster.

Assisted by Mr. R. STEWART, of London University; Mons. ALPHONSE LE PAGE, B. A. (Paris); and other gentlemen.

THE ABOVE SCHOOL was Established AUGUST, 1875, for the reception of BOARDERS and a limited number of DAY PUPILS.

The system of teaching pursued is that which long experience has proved to be the best adapted for imparting a sound and high-class Education. Special prominence is given to oral instruction, for by this method the mind of the pupil is brought into direct contact with the mind of his teacher, and thus the mental faculties are more quickly developed, learning is rendered more agreeable to the pupil, and his progress is much more rapid.

The pupils are prepared for the Universities, Public Schools, the Liberal Professions, the Civil and Indian Services, Mercantile and Agricultural pursuits, and the various departments of practical life.

The course of study in each boy's case is adapted to his future calling, and the parents are urgently requested to make known their intention in this respect as early as possible.

On his entrance each pupil is carefully examined and a report of his attainments sent home. A similar report is made each term, by means of which the parents are able to judge for themselves of their son's progress.

The discipline of the School is based as far as possible upon its religious and moral training, the great aim being to develop a frank and manly disposition, a sense of honor, self-control, and gentlemanly habits. To this end the boys are allowed certain privileges in proportion as they show themselves capable of making a right use of them, and the withholding of these is the chief punishment. The oldest and best pupils are encouraged to assist in maintaining a high tone in the School. In this way all necessity for corporal punishment is dispensed with, and it is not therefore employed, except in very extreme cases.

Satisfactory arrangements have been made for the recreation of the pupils—for cricket, football, swimming, etc.

TERMS:

The above terms include the use of Books. Music and Dancing will be charged for at the usual rates of the respective professors, viz.—Four Guineas a year. Drawing, which is taught at the School of Art, 15s., Singing, 4s., Drilling, 2s. 6d., and Washing 10s. 6d., a term.

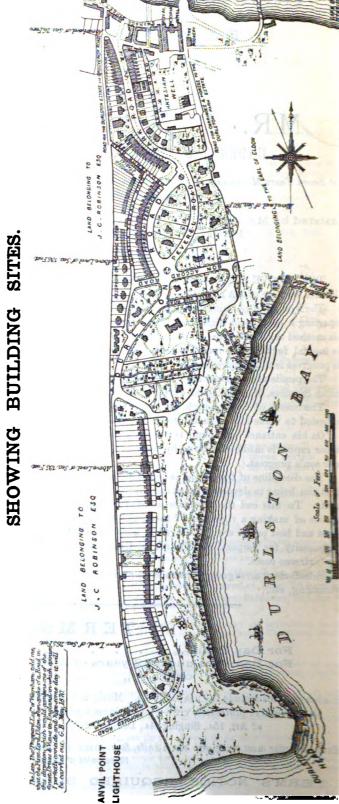

Each Boarder must bring with him a knife, fork, spoon, six towels, not less than three suits of clothes, and three pairs of boots.

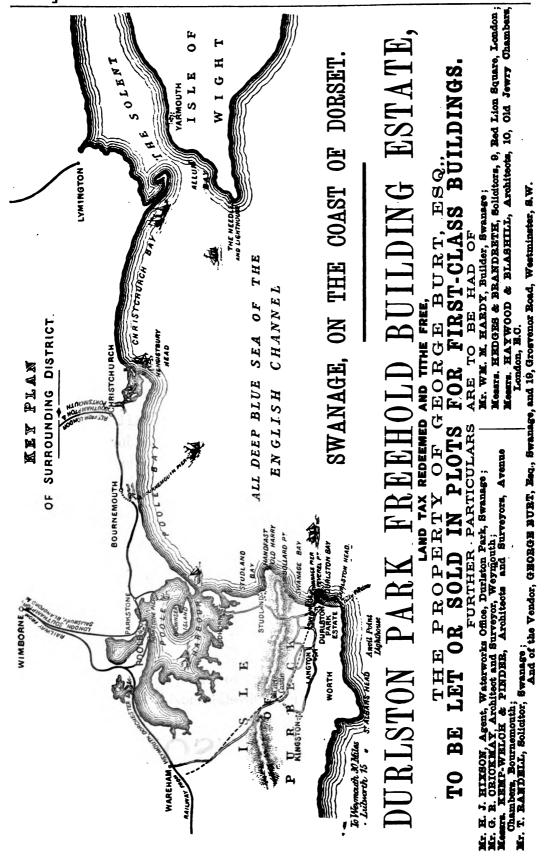

A TERM'S NOTICE REQUIRED BEFORE REMOVING A PUPIL.

DEATH TO PAIN.

The present age has been prolific of some of the most wonderful and beneficial discoveries known in the History of Mankind. But to none, perhaps, do we owe so much as to those which remove disease and pain. Chief among these is

CLARKSON'S EMBROCATION

Those who for years have suffered from Rheumatism, Gout, Sciatica, Tic, Tooth-ache, Corns, Bunions, Periodical Sore Throats, Quinsey, Mumps, Cramps, other Pains, and Inflammations, are now by Thousands rejoicing in the possession of sound Health and complete freedom from Suffering. In cases of

Accidents by Fire and Steam, Accidents by Machinery and Tools, Accidents by Falls or Blows, Accidents of Sprains and Bruises, you have instant relief and speedy cure without the shadow of doubt or difficulty. It is truly a balm to the wound, an ever-available Pain-destroyer. Let it not be out of your reach in all seasons. Burns, Bruises, Cuts, Sores, Wounds from all causes, are relieved and cured as if by Magic. This is not a mere statement, as might perhaps be assumed by some, but a calm and deliberate assertion based upon unquestionable facts and unimpeachable testimony. In cases of Chilblains and Tender Feet, it is wonderful how soothing and healing it is found to be: it is the true Friend-in-Need. No home ought to be without it. Try it at once.

Procrastination is the thief of time,
The bane of life, the foe of wealth,
And long delay at last becomes a crime,
When dire disease attacks the health.

Sufferers! exercise caution. Be sure to ask for and see that you obtain CLARKSON'S Embrocation. Full Directions and Testimonials with each bottle. Prepared only by

TOTLAND BAY ESTATE,

ISLE OF WIGHT.

OTLAND BAY, which is contiguous to Alum Bay, is distant about two miles from both Yarmouth and Freshwater Gate, has the qualifications which are most important for the success of a watering-place, perhaps superior to any other in the Isle of Wight; and it has been a growing conviction for years past among persons intimate with the neighbourhood, that this beautiful bay must before long become one of the most favourite resorts in the South of England. Its development has not been so rapid as that of other parts of the Island, owing to the want of railway communication, which is about to be supplied by a projected railway from Newport, which will connect Totland Bay with the rest of the Isle of Wight Railway System.

The air of this charming watering-place is peculiarly bracing, and though partaking of the softness of that of the Under Cliff, has none of those relaxing qualities so much felt by visitors to the south-east of the Island. The climate has been pronounced by distinguished physicians to be unsurpassed by any in England. The sands of the Bay are remarkably white and firm, and the Bay itself, being sheltered from prevailing winds, affords exceptional advantages for bathing, boating, and yachting.

Attached to the Bathing Establishment, and situated on the beach, is a Reading Room and Library, well supplied with books, which proves a great attraction to visitors.

Yachtsmen will find excellent anchorage for yachts. An ample supply of the finest spring water is obtained from the neighbouring downs, which will be laid on to every house built on the estate.

A commodious Hotel has been erected, replete with every convenience, and commands a fine view of the sea, the Solent, and the Headon and Beacon Hills.

The pier is about 450 feet in length, built of iron, and affords a most agreeable promenade.

The furnished houses and apartments are always in great request, so that there is an excellent opportunity afforded for persons with small means to adopt this mode of adding to their income.

Houses will be built to suit the requirements of intending purchasers, and liberal advances of money made to those parties who incline to build for themselves.

Leases are granted for 999 years, which, being equivalent to freehold property, effect a large saving in the first outlay for land.

AND AN EFFICIENT STAFF OF ASSISTANT MASTERS.

AIM OF THE SCHOOL.—The aim of the School is to provide a sound, moral, religious, useful and liberal education, in accordance with the principles and practice of the Church of England, and, as far as practicable, on the system of the Public Schools.

BUILDINGS AND SITUATION.—The present buildings were opened in August, 1870. They are furnished with every modern appliance for the accommodation of 150 Boarders. The buildings are erected on one of the finest and healthlest sites in the South of England. They stand in their own grounds of ten acres in extent, and are about a mile from Dorchester, which has stations on the London and South Western and Great Western Railways.

RELIGIOUS INSTRUCTION.—The Bible is daily read and studied, and an opportunity is afforded on Sundays for further instruction in religious subjects.

SECULAR INSTRUCTION.—The general course of instruction includes: Reading, Writing, Arithmetic, Dictation, Book-keeping, Riementary Drawing, Music, Drilling, Land Surveying (theoretical and practical), Geography and History, English Literature and Composition, Latin and Greek (optional), French, Mathematics and Natural Science, especially Chemistry (including its applications to agriculture).

A Laboratory is provided for the practical study of Chemistry, and a Carpenter's Shop where boys are instructed by a practical man. REGULATIONS AND EXAMINATIONS.—All boys are admitted by nominations which can be procured through the Head Master. The School is examined each year by Examiners appointed by the Council, and their reports are published. Facilities are given for the cultivation of particular studies and boys are prepared for competitive examinations without extra charge. The School is a centre for the Cambridge Local Examinations.

WORK AND HOLIDAYS.—The School year consists of three Terms of about equal length. Boys may remain at the School during the Baster Holidays, on payment of a moderate fee.

EXHIBITIONS.—A few Exhibitions have been offered, in value 25 per annum, and tenable until the holder leaves the School.

DOMESTIC ARRANGEMENTS.—Every boy has a separate bed and the dormitories are of different sizes, thus giving the choice of a small or large room, according to the case of each boy. The Matron attends to the personal cleanliness of the younger boys.

FEEB.—If paid in advance.—Boys under 11 years of age £48 per annum, or £12 18s. 4d. per Term. Boys over 11 years of age £42 per annum, or £14 per Term. If not said in advance.—Boys under 11 years of age £40 per annum, or £13 6s. 8d. per Term. Boys over 11 years of age £44 per annum, or £14 18s. 4d. per Term. Boys over 11 years of age £45 per annum, or £14 18s. 4d. per Term. Boys over 11 years of age £40 per annum, or £15 6s. 8d. per Term. Boys over 11 years of age. The above Fees are for Education, Board and Washing.

EXTRA CHARGES (WHICH ARE OPTIONAL).—For Lessons in German, 1½ Guineas per Term.
" Instrumental Music, 1½ Guineas per Term.

A Term's Notice, or the payment of a Term's Fees is required previous to the removal of a pupil. Bach Pupil brings two pairs of Sheets, six Towels, two Knives, two Plated Forks and a Spoon, which are returned when he leaves.

SPECIAL FRATURES.—The boys receive a greater share of personal attention and assistance than is usual in most public Schools. Candidates for various examinations are prepared with great care. Boys from the Colonies may remain during the holidays on payment of a moderate addition to the regular fees. All profits are employed solely for the good of the School.

DISTINCTIONS.—The list of DISTINCTIONS includes:—A Mathematical Scholarship at Caius College, Cambridge, places in the Honour and First Divisions at the London University, and Honours in the Cambridge Local Examinations.

FOR LARGE SEWERS, CULVERTS, WELLS, AND MANHOLES.

Smooth Surface and of Great Hardness, which qualities are increased instead of diminished by the action of Water or Sewage.

SILICATED BY THE VICTORIA STONE COMPANY'S PATENT PROCESS.

The Advantages of these Tubes over Sewers of either Brick or Concrete, rendered with Cement, are as follows:--

Economy and rapidity of construction.

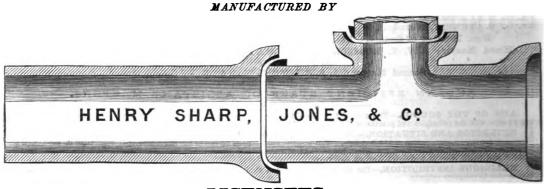

A perfectly true barrel and a water-tight Sewer.

The larger sizes are adapted for Well linings, especially where it is desirable to exclude the water of upper strata, and have been successfully used for the purpose.

The facility with which a strong water-tight joint can be made, renders these Tubes suitable for conveyance of water under moderate pressure.

LICENSEES.

This Joint is made by casting, upon the spigot and in the socket of each pipe, rings of durable material, which when put together, fit mechanically into each other, as in a bored and turned joint; it needs no skilled labour in fixing; allows of slight settlement of the pipes without injury; and requires neither cement, clay, nor other extraneous material, the pipes containing a perfect joint within themselves.

SCHOOL has been established upwards of 50 years. Pupils are successfully prepared for the Oxford Local and other Public Examinations.

The system of Education adopted is the result of many years' practical teaching and training, combined with a continual study and comparison of the various Educational Theories of the present day. Prominence is given to Oral and Inductive teaching, and every subject is, as far as practicable, illustrated by Apparatus, Diagrams, and Black-board Demonstrations, whilst accuracy, neatness and good Handwriting are secured by an unusual amount of written exercises; by these means the minds of the Pupils are trained to habits of thought, and not merely burdened with rules.

The Pupils are under the constant care of the Principal, the utmost importance is attached to sound moral and religious culture, and every effort is made to secure home comforts in connection with kind but firm discipline.

The Establishment is in a Town renowned for its cleanliness, purity of air, and beautiful neighbourhood, and is within ten minutes' walk of the Wiltshire Downs, which afford every facility for out-door recreation.

Prospectuses, containing Terms, &c., and any further information required, may be obtained on application to the Principal.

GREEN'S improved Asphalte and Basteen Paving is the most suitable known substance for all Flooring requiring to be damp-proof, for Stables, Coach Houses, Barns, Malt Houses, Granaries, Bark Stores, Cow Houses, Kitchens, Pig Styes, Garden and Public Footpaths. In all cases where pure air is a necessity it should be used, as no offensive matter, damp or putrid vapour can rise through it, which no other substance can prevent, such as stone, concrete, wood or cement. It will bear the heaviest traffic, and cannot be penetrated by rats, mice, or any other kind of vermin. For Foundations, Arches, Bridges, Lining Tanks and Fish Ponds; for Roofing Terraces and Walks, it is most effectual, preventing the percolation of Water, and enduring for an unknown time.

SELDOWN HOUSE SCHOOL, LONGFLEET, POOLE. Principal: -WILLIAM R. COX, B.A., LONDON.

The object of this School is to provide an Education suitable for boys intended for the Professions, the Civil Service, Commerce Agriculture, &c., &c. Careful attention is given to the moral and religious training, the health and comfort, and the individual requirements of the Pupils. Mr. Cox has had great experience in the teaching and management of Boys, having been for about fifteen years previous to opening this School, joint-principal of a large and prosperous Boarding School. The Subjects of Instruction comprise Classics, Modern Languages, Mathematics, the usual English Subjects, Music and Drawing. Boys are prepared for the Oxford and Cambridge Local Examinations, or for those of the College of Preceptors; also for the preliminary Legal and Medical Examinations whenever required. OHARGES.—For Boarders over 12 years of age, £40 a year; for Boarders under 12 years of age, £13 a year; for Day Boys, without Latin or French, £6 a year; for Day Boys, without Latin or French, £6 a year; for Day Boys, without Latin or French, £6 a year; for Day Boys, without Latin or French, £6 a year. The School year is divided into three equal terms of about thirteen and a half weeks each. A Term's Notice is required previously to the removal of a Pupil. The domestic arrangements are personally superintended by Mrs. Cox, who has had great experience in such duties. Each Boarder has a separate bed. Each Boarder is expected to bring a silver spoon and fork, and all Linen, &c., brought to School, must be marked legibly and in full.

LADIES' SCHOOL, COLLEGIATE

ENDLESS STREET, SALISBURY,

CONDUCTED BY THE MISS EDMUNDS.

· (LATE THE MISS SAUNDERS.)

The best elements of the English and Coatmental Systems of Education are combined at this School; and, tagether with the advantages to be derived from regular discipline, a thoroughly happy home life is provided for the pupils, who are encouraged by every means to honourable and independent work.

The teachers are all of accredited ability. The Lady Principal is qualified by Certificates of Examination from, Paris, London and Cambridge. The Modern Languages are taught by Foreiga Certificated Mistresses; and highly qualified Masters attend for Yocal and Instrumental Music, Drawing, Painting, and Calisthenics.

The Course of Instruction, in which the Class Method is chiefly adopted, includes Holy Scripture; the English, French, and German Languages; History, Geography, Arithmetic, and the Elements of Natural Science. Extra Classes are formed, or individual teaching is afforded, as the need arises, in other subjects: such as Latin, Italian, Mathematics. Theory of Music, &c. Needlework, both useful and artistic, receives special attention.

Public statistics prove Salisbury to be one of the healthlest towns in England; while its situation, at an easy distance from London and the Southern Coast, and in the midst of a fine, open, undulating district, abounding in historical interest, strongly recommends it as a temporary residence for young people. Salisbury has a flourishing School of Science and Art, and is also a centre for the Universities' Local Examinations; of which institutions the Pupils of the Ladies' Collegiate School have the full benefit.

The Year is divided into Three Terms, commencing about January the 20th, April the 20th, and September the 1st. The fees vary from eighty to one hundred pounds per annum, inclusive. Prospectus on application.

Patent Venetian Blinds, at ls. per foot super. Plain Venetian Blinds at 9d, per foot super. Old Blinds Painted and re-taped equal to new, at 4d, per foot super. PATENT SPRING BOLLER. The advantages gained in these Rollers consist in being able to get the Blind the full width of the window and uniform at both sides, no caps or wheels being required. They are worked with only a centre or tassel line. By working the Blind thus it is hardly possible to throw it out of the square, which greatly diminishes the chances of its becoming creased. There is far less noise in working, and no part of the mechanism is exposed to get clogged with dust, &c. I inch Complete Single Action Wood Spring Rollers, draw 5ft., 4s. 1 inch Double Action, draw 5ft. 6in., 5s. 1½ inch Double Action, draw 7ft. 6in., 6s. Spring Rollers can be had to draw to any length. Estimates given for all kinds of blinds free of charge. Particular attention is called to YOUNG'S PATENT VENETIAN BLIND. Any person desirous of seeing this new design, which is now generally adopted by householders, should call and inspect the same at the above address.

PRIZE MEDALȘ.—London, 1851; Paris, 1855; London, 1862; Paris (Silver), 1867; London, 1874.

WILLI BRASS FOUNDERS & METAL

Tubing, Cornice poles; Altar, Gallery, Desk and Staircase railings; Fire dogs, brasses and guards, Garonas, Candelabra, Sconces; Ragie and ether lecterns; Mouldings, Guards, Screens, Ventilators, Shop fittings, Deor. Saah and Casement furniture; Rapagnolette belts; Picture, Pulley, Curtain, and Stair rods; Improved propped stop and other varieties of hinges; Swing-door centres; Bell furniture; Patent visrified bowl castors, Ship furniture, Stable fittings, and Metal work in the various styles of Art.

CURRALL'S PATENT VENTILATORS.

THESE VENTILATORS are very simple, efficient, and cheap; a regular supply of fresh air without may perceptible draught, and the removal of the vitiated air is effected by the two forms—the inlet and the outlet, of which the inlet is the indispensable form. The inlet is made suitable for doors, windows, and walls; the outlet, for chimneys and walls. The result is the replacement of an oppressive atmosphere by one which is agreeable, refreshing, and free from smoke, for these Ventilators are an effectual cure for smoky chimneys.

WITHOUT SPRINGS.

Affords Ventilation with security when the window is opened at TOR or BOTTOM.

The efficiency of this Fastener is proved by the fact that it securely fastens the sashes, both when closed and when partly open for the pur-pose of ventilation, by automatic action; and as it acts by gravitation without springs, its construction is of the simplest character.

It is especially useful for those sashes where the centre bar is so high as to place the ordinary fastener out of reach.

The FASTENER is fixed, when used by itself, at the junction of the sashes on one side, and is released by means of a single line; closing the sash automatically brings the Fastener into action. If the SASH OPENER be combined with the Fastener (see Illustration), as is very convenient in heavy sashes, one pair of lines for opening and another for closing are used.

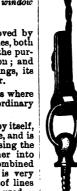

HOOKHAM'S PATENT PICTURE LINE AND FASTEMERS.

Perfect Security with Extreme Facility in Hanging.

The LINE, made with a core of STEEL The LINE, made with a core of STERL PIANO WIRE of the quality used in the best pianos, which is well known as capable of supporting a great strain for almost any length of time, is exactly what is required for pictures. The core is protocted from rust by a binding of water-proofed cotton, covered with ormobu, or silver-plated wire, which, being well lacquered, will keep its colour.

The PATENT FASTENERS, a new contrivance, will be found a great convenience. By their use a picture can be hung in a third of the usual time, and adjusted easily to an eighth of an inch. Their cost is but trifling, and they effect an economy of the line.

The line is sold on Registered Reels, which will be found very convenient in use. Registered Nippers, made entirely of cast steel, and useful for numerous household purposes, especially for opening champagne, may be had with the line.

WETHERED'S PATENT SELF-FASTERING BLIND FURNITURE

Suitable for all kinds of blinds worked by lines, is simple in construction, and perfect in action. The blind is raised or lowered by acting on the line when held out of the vertical position, and the blind is automatically fixed where desired by simply releasing

PATENT BOOK-SHELF FITTINGS.

Adopted in many of the principal public libraries, are intended to replace the troublesome studs by which book-shelves have been usually regulated. The perforated metal strips are let in and screwed to the upright frames. The screwed to the upright frames. Ine plates, although sufficiently strong to support the heaviest books, are so thin as not to require to be mortised into the shelves, and by the facility with which the plates are inserted, adjustment can be given to the shelves without an irritating waste of time.

PATENT KEYED DOOR FURNITURE.—The knob being fastened to the spindle by a strong dov-tailed key this furniture is more secure and less liable to get out of order than any other variety.

HOPKINSON'S PATENT GUARDED LEVER SASH-FASTENER.—Cannot be opened by an instrument from the outside.

HOOKHAM'S PATENT STEEL RIBBON SASH-LINE.—Formed of several bands of watch-spring steel, covered with a binding of copper wire, and so prepared as to resist corrosion, supplies a want long felt of a material for hanging safely all kinds of—but more especially heavy—eashes.

HOOKHAM'S PATENT BRASS HEAD SCREWS .- Stronger and cheaper than brass screws. ALLEN'S UNIVERSAL HAT-HOLDER HAYWARD'S SECURE PLUSH BOLT.

THE VARIOUS ARTICLES MAY BE PROCURED THROUGH ANY IRONMONGER.

on this principle can be supplied to force to a height of 1.500 feet.

NO OILING OR PACKING REQUIRED

Parties requiring a Water Supply should not too readily conclude that the quantity and fall of water, if any is available, is too small to work a Ram before consulting J. B. BLAKE'S SPECIAL RAMS for Desp-working Falls, will force up One-Third of the Water passing through tham. Made in sizes to raise from 800 to 100,000 Gallons per day. Will force to a height of 1,500 feet.

TESTIMONIALS

From Captain TOWNSEEND, Wineham, February, 10, 1877.

"In answer to your enquiry, I am glad to say the Hydraulic Man you sett me in November, 1867, is working exceedingly well, and gives no trouble. It will work when quite immersed, as it has been several times during the floods this winter, forcing up water through a delivery pipe 900 yards long at the rate of 80,000 gallons per day, although you only promised 50,000."

Deanwater, Wilmslow, November 20, 1878.

Hydraulic Ram you supplied me with six months ago, I beg to state that I am more than satisfied with it, as it is 2000 gallons of water in the twenty-four hours, whereas work, and more especially as I had a Ram supplied me by another maker which could not send up a single gallon of water to the height required, and a second maker informed me that no Ram with a fall of 3 feet could send up water " Dear Sir.-In answer to your enquiries respecting the n perfect order, sending up to the top of the house about have, therefore, every reason to be well pleased with your you only contracted to deliver in that time 500 gallons. to the distance required, namely, 120 feet. But yours an accomplished fact, and does its work most effectually

From JOHN TAYLOR, Req., The Rocks, Bath, Aug. 22, 1878. "The Self-seting Hydraulic Ram you fixed here in March quantity of water and fall to work it as the water-wheel and pump which I used previously to force to a height of 294 feet, and yet the Ram sends up more than double the quantity of water that the wheel did to the same begint. of last year continues to work well. It has only the same

From the Right Hon. T. Sotherron-Bercourt, Licouri Park, Gloucestershire, September 6, 1875.

"You will be glad to hear, as I am to tell you, that your Bell-acting lydraulic Ram has worked exceedingly well and continuously since it was erected, more than twelve months ago. It is, in fact, perfectly successful."

(The delivery pipe in the above case is 4,300 feet long, with 100 feet rise.)

From W. SCARTH, Esq., Agent to His Grace the Duke of Cleveland, Raby Castle, Dartington, July 16, 1878.

"The Hydraulic Ram you supplied to his Grace the Dube of Cloveland in 1875 is a complete success. It worked for more than two years without once stopping, and throws more water than promised." John blake, engineer, &..., Oxford street works, accrington, lancashire. am, yours truly, L. HANMER."

SPEING and forcing it up to a FARM, CATTLE TROUGHS, KITCHEN GARDEN, and MANSION, all at different Elevations This View represents one Ram WORKED BY WATER FROM he highest being 444 feet and to a distance of 2008 yards.

"They are of great excellence in design. • • The clay is hard, and evidently sound; the opposite of porous. The material is not surpassed by any found in this kingdom. As we have intimated, there is a wide choice of Designs, and these are obviously the productions of a true Artist in the style, who has given long thought and study to achieve the right and avoid the wrong."—AET JOURNAL, December, 1872.

"WEBB's Encaustic Tiles are likely to acquire an important position in the class of manufactures to which they belong; and we direct the attention of our readers to them as examples of a great advance in one of the most useful arts. * * For paving conservatories they are the best Tiles we have seen, for their texture and uniformity of size and surface show that once properly aid there can be no end to their wear and no possible change of position."—GARDENERS' MAGAZINE, February 1st, 1878.

MESSES. KELLY & CO. beg to announce that they are now engaged in the compilation of this Work, which will comprise the names of everyone in any way connected with the above trades.

Messrs. Kelly & Co., having for many years been engaged in the publication of Directories of the whole Kingdom, believe they are the only firm who have constantly in their employment an efficiently trained staff of assistants; and are therefore capable of producing trustworthy Works of this description.

The Work will contain, firstly, an Alphabetical Arrangement of every ascertainable name, under each particular Trade, in London and its suburbs; secondly, a similar arrangement for the rest of England, Scotland and Wales; thirdly, a re-classification under each County. By these several sections Messrs. Kelly & Co. believe the Work will be rendered as complete as possible for local as well as general use.

ADVERTISEMENTS

Can be inserted at the end of the Work at £7 per Page; £4 per Half; £3 per Third; £2 10s. per Quarter. No smaller Advertisement than a quarter page inserted. Any Advertisement, if wished to be at Top of Page, can be so inserted at the charge of 10s. additional.

No charge is made for the insertion of names or addresses, but any EXTRA DESCRIPTION can be inserted after the name at 5s. per line of 40 letters. Persons who wish their names inserted in Capital letters can have this done on payment of 5s. for each entry.

The practical utility of these Works is shown by the fact that some of them are quite out of print, every copy having been sold, and that constant enquiries are made as to when new Editions will be issued; it has consequently been determined to re-issue them, with such additions and improvements as have been suggested since the previous publications.

The object of this book is to include, in one general alphabetical list, all those who have any definite position, or title, from Hereditary rank, or order conferred on them by the Sovereign, or from any of the higher grades of the Military, Naval, Legal, Clerical, or Colonial Services of the State; also Deputy Lieutenants, Royal Academicians, Presidents and Vice-Presidents of Learned Societies, and County Court Judges. It is to be observed that it is the only book which enables any one, by reference to a single list, to determine whether any person having a particular title exists, and if so, to discover his residence.

LONDON: KELLY AND CO.,

POST OFFICE DIRECTORY OFFICES, 51, GREAT QUEEN STREET, W.C.

[&]quot;Kelly's Handbook to the Titled, Landed and Official Classes for 1880 is a volume which originally appeared as the Upper Ten Thousand. The change of Title is a decided improvement, and it is evident that the extraordinary care taken by Messrs. Kelly in the compilation of their Directories has also been given to the present volume. Although volumes referring to the foremost ranks of society are issued in great profusion, none are so comprehensive as the book before us."—Court Journal, March 20th, 1880.

"This is a most convenient and useful little work, giving as it does a short description of every person in the United Kingdom having any rank or distinction. In most cases the address is added, and in all the names we have had leisure to verify, we have observed that the accuracy of the information supplied is undeniable."—Examiner, March 20th, 1880.

"It may be added, that the publication is of great value to all, from the peer to the middle classes. It is, moreover, extremely well printed and handsomely bound."—Herapath's Railmay Journal, March 20th, 1880.

"The work of compilation has been carefully performed, and the special usefulness of the Handbook may be understood from the fact that it contains the names of twice as many living persons as any similar work of the kind."—Lloyd's Weekly London News, March 21st, 1880.

"As a handy book for the study, the boudoir, or the office—in fact as a nutshell blue book—this volume is invaluable."—Sunday Times, March 28th, 1880.
